

Former places of worship in the Diocese of Southwark

NEW CHARLTON, HOLY TRINITY

Ref: NEW03

Status	demolished
Borough	Greenwich
Present parish	CHARLTON, ST LUKE WITH HOLY TRINITY
Built	1894
Build architect	John Rowland

Further information This permanent building replaced a temporary church of 1887. It was designed by a local architect and seated 420.

“Cruciform with aisles and west porch. Red brick with stone dressings. Early English transitional style with cusped lancets, paired in clerestory and in group of 3 at West end. Plain paired aisle lancets. Low buttresses to aisle bays. 3 single lancets at East end. Brick plinth. High pitched tiled roofs. Inside a 5-bay nave; round piers with roll moulded capitals. Detached shafts separate paired aisle windows. 2 arches, with granite central pier, to organ chamber in North aisle extension. Arch braced timber roof, main braces resting on attached half-columns on stiff-leaf corbels. Screen of 1910 by Greenaway and Newberry.” (Statutory list description). The CCC has a more detailed description.

Declared redundant 1974 (having been listed the previous year, presumably in an attempt to save it), and demolished 1975. The parish was merged with Charlton, St Luke. A housing block (Trinity Court, Charlton Lane) is now on the site.
